BULLETIN No. 226

Canned Corn.

OTTAWA, July 21, 1911.

W. J. GERALD, Esq.,
Deputy Minister of Inland Revenue.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit herewith a report upon 146 samples of Canned Corn purchased throughout the Dominion by our Inspectors, in the months of March, April and May of this year.

All the samples were found to be in an excellent condition of preservation.

It will be noted that except in the far West of Canada, this article is sold pretty generally at 10 cents per tin.

The collection embraces forty-six (46) different brands; but upon inquiry I find that this does not imply the same number of manufacturers. Many large dealers have special brands put up for themselves by the regular canners.

There is great uniformity in the weight as well as in the character of the contents of the cans, which naturally leads to the inference that the work of preparing canned corn is carefully and systematically conducted.

No guarantee or statement of weight appears on the labels of any of these samples. The actual weight of the contents varies from about 20 to about 22 ounces; and averages practically 21 ounces or 1 lb. 5 oz.

The chief points to be noted in this report are the frequent presence of acid sulphite of lime, doubtless added for bleaching effect; and the use of a non-sugar sweetener (usually saccharin) in many samples.

Decided amounts of acid sulphite have been found in 46 samples, and traces in 27 others; so that this bleaching material has certainly been employed in 73 samples, or 50 per cent of the entire number inspected.

The question of the use of sulphurous acid (the acid present in sulphites) in foods is a very important one. Some information regarding the matter will be found in Bulletin 126, pp. 24-26, published in 1906. In the intervening five years, a great deal of investigation has been carried on; and a good deal of legislation has resulted. Much of this has been proved to be hasty, in the sense of having been undertaken without full knowledge of the matters treated, and has had to be amended or has remained inoperative. (See F.I.D. No. 89, U.S. Department of Agriculture.)

That sulphurous acid is a poison, is perfectly well ascertained; but that it acts deleteriously on the human system in the minute quantity present in corn, has not been demonstrated. Much of the sulphite introduced as a bleaching agent is oxidized to sulphate, and thus rendered harmless. Free sulphurous acid is further got rid of in the process of cooking the corn, and it is certain that only very minute traces can remain in the article as served at the table. While I do not think that we are in possession of incontrovertible evidence to justify legislative interference in the matter of the employment of sulphites in food, I believe the question to be of such consequence as to demand further, and very careful investigation; and in the meantime I would recommend that, in all cases where acid sulphites, or sulphurous acid has been used in the preparation of food products, a declaration of such fact should appear on the label.

The question of the employment of saccharin (or a similar article) to give sweetness to the product, is another moot point. In this case also, I am unable to regard the evidence in the matter as conclusively proving danger to the health of the consumer. Germany has forbidden the use of saccharin, but this is evidently a matter of fiscal policy, rather than a declaration of the dangerous character of the article. The United States has declared against the use of saccharin in foods, basing its action upon the report of a Board of Consulting Scientific Experts. (See F.I.D. 135, of April 26, 1911) This decision was to have come into force on July 1, 1911; but an inhibiting decree was issued on May 23, postponing the operation of the decision against saccharin, until July 1, 1912.

Saccharin (or other non-sugar sweetener) is present in 29 samples, now reported; i.e. in 20 per cent of the collection. Here also, I consider it desirable that manufacturers employing saccharin in food products should be required to announce the presence of the article; since, while the evidence available is not such as to justify the condemnation of saccharin, there exists among physicians and other qualified judges, a conviction that, in some cases, it is capable of doing harm.

I beg to recommend the publication of this report as Bulletin 226.

I have the honour to be, sir,

Your obedient servant,

A. MCGILL,
Chief Analyst.
